

ArthroSoothe™ Supreme

Comprehensive Joint Support*

MUSCULOSKELETAL

ArthroSoothe™ Supreme offers ideal nutritional support for joint health and function.* It provides a synergistic blend of joint-supportive compounds including glucosamine sulfate, New Zealand green-lipped mussel, methylsulfonylmethane (MSM), quercetin, trans-resveratrol (as Veri-te™), and a proprietary blend of the plant extracts Scutellaria baicalensis and Acacia catechu.* ArthroSoothe™ Supreme is ideal for individuals who experience occasional joint discomfort.*

Joints, cartilage, ligaments, tendons, and the synovial fluid that surrounds and lubricates the joints all undergo a continuous but slow regeneration process as a natural part of aging. This process can be affected by several factors, including nutritional status, activity level, hormone function, stress, aging, toxic burden, immune and gut health, and certain medications.

Glucosamine is one of the primary building blocks of cartilage. It provides precursors for the continuous structural repair of ligaments, tendons, and joint and spine cartilage by contributing to the formation of proteoglycans. Together with collagen, proteoglycans form cartilage, the spongy, rubber-like padding that covers and helps protect the tips of bones, where the joints are located. MSM provides most of its benefits by supplying the body with sulfur. Sulfur is another building block of collagen, which is the primary constituent of cartilage, skin, and connective tissue. Quercetin and resveratrol are plant-nutrient compounds that help support antioxidant status in the body, and promote a balanced inflammatory response.* Green-lipped mussel is a New Zealand shellfish that also contains compounds well-known for supporting joint health.* The plant extracts in Unigestin® are rich in bioflavonoids, other plant compounds that support a healthy inflammatory response.*
